Rules of the Road

THIS IS NOT A RACE. There is NO/NULL/ZERO/NAUGHT NEED TO RUN.

Be Careful! Look both ways before you cross a street - don't jaywalk, watch for trains, etc. You'd think we'd have healthy instincts for self-preservation, but someone named Jennifer fell off the curb at the Alley a few weeks ago (très embarrassant)...because she wasn't paying attention...

There are a variety of things you are looking for...but you certainly won't get them all - the two teams with the most points (after review) will get a surprise Tuesday morning.

In order to get points, you must have photographic (still or video) evidence that is tweeted or on Instagram. Please comment on what it is you are taking a photo or video of and hashtag to #kinderhspva140days

ALL members of your group must be in the picture unless it is impractical. If someone has decided to take a break, just include who is there - but there must be at least two group member (HSPVA Honor Code applies here - don't split up!) If you can find a kind stranger to take group pictures, even better! For some items, you can post multiple different examples (public art, etc), and others will only count once. If no one has a twitter or Instagram account in your group, text pictures to Jennifer Chase who will post them for you!

Be mindful of group members and take breaks. There is plenty of time. You won't get to everything, but I was able to photograph every item in 2 hours with the exception of Discovery Green on Saturday. I'd suggest picking two main areas in which to concentrate.

Items are grouped by general location or "anywhere" to give you an idea as to how to attack the hunt. For reference, it takes ole broken knee Ms. Chase about 55 seconds to walk from one block corner to the next at a moderate pace.

You will go straight from your last item to meet up at Le Meridien 1121 Walker St, Houston, TX 77002 for lunch - don't go back to the campus!

Have fun, and make sure to get your photos and videos out there!

Problems?
